

It has been more than 40 years since the first MAM branded soother, which combined design, functionality and medical safety, hit the market. Today, parents in 58 countries on 5 different continents buy 60 million MAM branded baby products a year. Our global operating group of companies is market leader in many countries and top-notch when it comes to iconic baby design. mambaby.com

As an international expanding manufacturer of branded products we are closely working with scientific partners.

We are looking for a

Scientific Consultant

who supports us on a freelance basis (approx. 25-30 hrs /month)

- .... do you have a paediatric background?
- .... are you experienced in setting up and co-ordinating scientific research projects, conducting studies and drafting articles or reports for professional journals?
- .... do you appreciate vibrant exchange with international, multi-disciplinary medical experts & researchers?
- .... are you interested in observing and identifying topical trends within the scientific community?
- .... do you have access to scientific platforms such as PubMed or other databases?
- .... is lecturing in English something you are familiar with?

Have we piqued your interest?
If yes, please respond with your CV or resume to personal@mambaby.com

MAM Babyartikel GmbH
Lorenz-Mandl-Gasse 50, 1160 Vienna, Austria

